Machine Overview

First introduced in 2010 as the OKI B411/431 printers, these machines were targeted for SOHO and small/medium sized workgroups that required quick and reliable monochrome devices in a small footprint. These printers offer output speeds of up to 38 ppm with a quick first page out time of less than 5 seconds. The multifunctional devices later introduced in 2012 offers end-users the same excellent output quality, similar output speeds and increased capabilities of scanning and copying.
